

Talking to your patient about the prevention and management of chronic disease will make a big difference to the quality of their life. Learn more about Making Every Contact Count and register for the online training programme at www.makingeverycontactcount.ie